Save Time, Deliver Awesome Demos

softserve

Spend less time updating demo environments and more time showcasing your company's products in action.

Our client and partner, Atlassian is a global software company providing collaboration and productivity software for teams to organize, discuss, and complete shared work. The brand required a customer-facing demo environment that looked “live” at all times and automated time-consuming manual system updates.

SoftServe's solution delivered the following advantages without changing existing processes or system components:

- Increased productivity
- Reduced manual work
- Improved customer and employee satisfaction
- Ability to extend the demo environment to additional teams

SoftServe's familiarity with Atlassian's products accelerated the creation of a solution that leveraged the UiPath Robotic Process Automation platform and offered the following advantages:

- Less time spent on repetitive tasks by automating updates to multiple systems
- Real-time updates to content, leading to improved marketing and demo sessions
- Elimination of the need for mocked-up product demos by taking screenshots from a “live” demo system

LET'S TALK about how SoftServe can integrate your existing systems to save time and deliver exceptional product demonstrations.
